Summer Fling or the Real Thing... L&L

It is not unusual for people to start a romance during summer, whether that's on holiday or at home. The sun and warm weather (if we are lucky), and perhaps a little bit of alcohol all lower inhibitions and can combine into an exciting heady feeling of lust.

The question many of us will be asking, now that the summer is over - should you chalk up the romance as a summer fling, or does it have the makings of a proper relationship?

There is no doubt that some partnerships that start abroad, can make it in the long run, but they are probably the exception rather than the rule. Many things would make it unlikely - geographical distance, long-distance romance, financial burden of seeing one another, possible language issues as well as cultural differences to overcome.

However if you met at home, or you met someone abroad that happens to live near your home location, then you may have more of a chance, albeit there are still some things to consider:

Talking

Perhaps 'talking' was not your first priority when you initially met! But in an everyday relationship - good communication will be key.

If it's a fling - there may be awkward silences, one of you may be holding the conversation more than the other.

If it's the real thing - conversation should flow easily, you probably cannot wait until you can speak again. Both of you will have interesting things to contribute and will take equal turns in meeting, phoning, texting etc.

Dating

When you were on holiday entertainment probably came naturally - walks on the beach, meals in restaurants, and ice cream in a café as you watched the world go by... But now back in the real world you will both have to make an effort if you want to turn your romance in to a relationship.

If both of you are excited about meeting, are making an effort to suggest nice places to go and exciting things to do. Arrive on time, and look the part - then you are well on your way.

But if you find you are putting in all of the effort, one or more date has been altered or cancelled at the last minute - then it may be time to face facts.

Rose Tinted Glasses

During a summer fling, let's face it you are not looking for 'marriage' material, but if you decide to take your relationship beyond a holiday romance then you will need to consider whether the person meets your long-term needs. Of course you do not need to decide this straight away, but fundamentally all of us have a 'list' of what we want from 'the one' and eventually this will have to be faced.

Try to consider early on what is really important to you and them and see if you are a real match!

Following on from our spring and summer magazines, we continue delving into the Major Arcana Cards in Tarot. If you missed the earlier articles, then you can catch up by visiting our blog:

So, now we move on to the next five cards:

The Hanged Man (XII)

The Hanged Man is a card of two meanings. In the first it represents being stuck or caught in a situation - you will need to ride it out and wait patiently as you begin to transition to your next life phase. Often the waiting is to do with finances or perhaps a personal sacrifice you need to make. Don't fight against it - just deal with the situation. The second interpretation means you need to stop holding on to your current opinion about the matter in hand - only by viewing the problem from a new perspective will you get the understanding you desire.

Death (XIII)

Those new to Tarot naturally fear selecting The Death card, but in fact the death is symbolic and not literal - it usually means a major change is afoot. You are likely to be changed by a major event or some other great life transformation will occur. You should embrace the change, simply put - one chapter of your life is closing in order for a new one to begin. The transition may be trying and difficult, but in the long run you will grow on a personal and spiritual level and you will benefit in the end.

Temperance (XIV)

The Temperance card is a warning to not move to the extremes, now is a time to be more moderate and balanced in all aspects of your life. Perhaps you have been burning the candle at both ends, or maybe one area of your life - such as your career is getting all of your attention. Or it could be that you are leading an unhealthy lifestyle - eating the wrong thing, drinking to excess and so on. It is time to take stock, and put your life back in balance, and ensure that your material needs are not outweighing your spiritual needs.

The Devil (XV)

The Devil card has more than one meaning. It may describe a situation in which you feel trapped. It doesn't necessarily describe any one area; it may be a general feeling of hopelessness - as though you cannot escape from your situation. But equally it may be very specific - such as a job you feel is going nowhere or a relationship that is not growing. Its secondary meaning is of an addiction - this could be some sort of substance abuse, but equally could be a relationship or an emotional demeanour. Although the overwhelming feeling of this card is that there is no solution around the corner - there is in fact an answer - but you must be prepared to search for it!

The Tower (XVI)

The Tower is a shocking card - it normally represents a fall from grace, something dramatic will have happened in your life, it's shocking as it is so unexpected. There is an element of embarrassment, perhaps the outcome has become public - it could be anything from a relationship breakdown to bankruptcy... Whilst on the outside it appears as if the event is a bolt out of the blue, when you think deep-down, you will know that things have actually been brewing for a while. At the time things will be very difficult, but rest assured that you will be able to look back on this time as a blessing, as something that happened for good reason.

To celebrate all things autumnal including the 22nd September Equinox
I thought we would delve into Celtic Tree Signs.

2 Sep - 29 Sep: Vine (The Unpredictable)

As the title 'unpredictable' suggests those born under the Vine tree are changeable. You may find yourself being the life and soul of the party on one day, and on another you may feel more quiet and withdrawn. From a young age, people may have described you as having the 'Midas Touch', an ability to get what you want, and in your case that is generally the finer things in life! You can be charming and as such you have built up a network of movers and shakers, which will serve you well, especially in your career.

30 Sep - 27 Oct: Ivy (The Warrior)

From a young age you are likely to have been considered a 'fighter'; however this should not be confused with anger or aggression, as you are incredibly empathetic and compassionate to others. Your 'Warrior' tendencies are much more likely to be used in the pursuit of justice for others. You are one of the more spiritual signs, and others suffering bothers you greatly. You genuinely are a giver and not receiver; you would probably be happiest working in a job that involves helping others, medical or charity perhaps?

28 Oct - 24 Nov: Reed (The Secret Keeper)

People know they can trust you and as such they spill their secrets, this can sometimes prove burdensome for you, but you take it in your stride honouring the trust they have placed in you. There is nothing you like more than learning, your greatest fear is of time running out - it never feels like there is enough time to learn everything you want to know and do. You put people at their ease and as such they open up to you - communication is your secret weapon!

25 Nov - 23 Dec: Elder (The Seeker)

For you, life needs to be at full pelt, but you don't want to run with the crowd. Others might consider you a rebel, but in reality you are an extrovert and a thinker. You are passionate about what you believe in, and are ready and willing to debate on the topic. Whilst you are outspoken, you listen to others opinions and you are considerate by nature.

24 Dec - 20 Jan: Birch (The Achiever)

People are likely to have had high expectations for you since you were young, believing that you would go far in life... You are tough and firm and you work incredibly hard. Others are motivated by you, and often want to get involved in your projects. You are adaptable and will push yourself to achieve bigger and better. People are at ease with you and a room is brightened upon your entering!

21 Jan - 17 Feb: Rowan (The Thinker)

You are thoughtful and greatly interested in philosophy, you are creative and a thinker - but your ideas often run in contrast to others. This is no bad thing as many solutions to problems and innovative ideas can come from persevering even if others disagree. Sometimes you may think it would be easier to be accepted, rather than thought of as a bit odd or aloof, but greatness comes from visionaries - so be proud to be different.

18 Feb - 17 Mar: Ash (The Enchanter)

You are out-doorsy, love landscapes and anything to do with nature. You are a positive person with zest for life. You probably communicate best through some form of creativity, perhaps writing or art. Having to be inside (perhaps for work), would leave you feeling withdrawn, but unlike others you do well being alone, having said that you are naturally communicative and a free thinker.

18 Mar - 14 Apr: Alder (The Pathfinder)

You are a person that can both 'talk the talk' and 'walk the walk'; you can charm anyone and talk easily to everyone. You are the person that is depended on to get the job done! Your charisma draws others to you, they want to be confident an able - just like you...That said you don't like hangers on, or suffer fools gladly, you appreciate how precious time is and as such you want to spend it wisely.

15 Apr - 12 May: Willow (The Observer)

Of the tree signs you are one of the most likely to be psychically gifted. You are patient, intelligent, creative and in tune with nature. Mood wise yours is highly impacted by moon and lunar phases. People marvel at your photographic memory, that and your ability to retain information stands you in good stead at work. You make the most of all opportunities that come your way, but you would never brag about them - your preference is for the spotlight to be elsewhere.

13 May - 9 Jun: Hawthorn (The Illusionist)

Hawthorn signs see the bigger picture in life, and as such they are positive, happy people - both curious and great listeners. That said all is not as it seems with you - outwardly you may project one persona, but in reality inside you feel like a different person. Perhaps you do a rather mundane job, but then have an exciting or dangerous hobby! You take notice of the latest trends and styles and a creative outlet in dance or drama feeds your soul.

10 Jun - 7 Jul: Oak (The Strong One)

In terms of Celtic astrology - you are all powerful. For those you care about or those in your care you are protective, and your ability to absorb new things and a desire to pass that knowledge on makes you a great coach, mentor or teacher. You are independent and like planning, systems and lists... Family, friends and community - is everything to you. You are happiest when surrounded by those that you love.

8 Jul - 4 Aug: Holly (The Ruler)

You are a leader and a winner! Holly people take on challenges with gusto and are rarely out-won. Partly because you take things in your stride and are unflustered in the face of adversity. The Holly sign is a noble sign and as such many will seek comfort and reassurance from you. You provide much needed support and great counsel to their problems. You believe that everyone makes mistakes, and that is fine as long as lessons are learnt.

5 Aug - 1 Sep: Hazel (The All-Knowing)

Hazel's are generally considered to be academics, they are naturally intelligent and a thirst for increased knowledge only enhances this. But remember - nobody likes a 'know it all', even if you are right most of the time! Rules are important to you, as are facts and figures, detail and accuracy - these cornerstones of your belief system are routed in science, you feel comfortable having something tangible that you can know and trust to be true.
